

Edit Your Own Website

Written by Derek Kingaby

Wednesday, 10 February 2010 12:17 - Last Updated Wednesday, 10 February 2010 13:30

Article: [New] Preview Save

Title	Edit Your Own Website	Published	<input type="radio"/> No <input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes	State	Published
Alias		Front Page	<input type="radio"/> No <input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes	Hits
Section	Support!	Category	The Project	Revised	0 Times
				Created	Wednes
				Modified	Not Mod

B I U ABC Paragraph Font family

This how easy it is to edit your own website. Log in on the left of the front page using your username and pass. If you have editing rights a new editing symbol will appear on the top right of the article next to the print and email icon. Click on this edit icon will open a edit window showing the article with an edit tool bar across the top. This is fairly intuitive and you can us it to insert images change the text in a WYSIWYG format. Clicking save will save your changes and return to to the normail view of the website.

Parameters (Artic
Author	Derek
Author Alias
Access Level	Public
Created Date	2010-02-10

How easy it is, to edit your own website.

1. Log in on the left of the front page using your username and password.
2. If you have editing rights a new editing symbol will appear on the top right of the article next to the print and email icon.
3. Clicking on this edit icon will open a edit window showing the article with an edit tool bar across the top.
4. This is fairly intuitive and you can us it to insert images and change the text etc. in a WYSIWYG format.
5. Clicking save will save your changes and return to to the normail view of the website.